Seminar on “Current IT industry trends and angular js”

Date: 03.11 2017

The department conducted its first seminar during 17-18session on November 3rd 2017. The seminar was conducted with the support of NIIT Calicut. The seminar was conducted by MR. Mohd. Aslam and Mr. Habeeburahman. The seminar focused on the current trends in the information technology industry. The students were given a brief introduction on the latest happening in the industry. From the seminar, the participants came to know that the programming platform has shifted to server and cloud based infrastructure. Hence, the trending tools for developing software are concentrating on cloud server based platforms. The seminar next discussed the angular js tool for developing software on the trending platform. It gave the students a brief knowledge from which they can start to work on their own in this area.
