HUMAN RIGHTS DAY CELEBRATIONS: INTERACTION WITH SHEETHAL SHYAM (Third gender activist)

10 DECEMBER 2017

Discrimination, marginalization, and violence against LGBT and intersex persons occur everywhere in the world. Violations of rights are widespread and sometimes even justified by political and religious leaders as an important cornerstone to safeguard morality and social order. LGBT and intersex persons are used as scapegoats for crime, corruption and health problems and made to represent the evil deviating from religious, moral and family norms and values. LGBT and intersex persons are attributed all sorts of negative qualities connected to their sexual orientation and/or gender identity. LGBT and intersex persons are furthermore surrounded by erroneous beliefs, religious condemnation, suspicion, shame and hatred and suffer from negative consequences with effects to health, safety and economy due to state, community, family and self-repression. The issue of gender and sexualities is of a nature that touches upon some of the most intimate and personal aspects of a human being are social and emotional existence. When meeting a person for the first time it is usually not the person's education, religion or ethnicity that people first notice, but if the person is a man or a woman. Kinship, reproduction and sexuality are concepts that are intimately integrated in the concept of determining the logic of a person's relationship to and function in society. Gender and sexuality might be some of the most primary classifications and grounds for social organization of humans that we know, and also the topics that cause most debate. Knowledge about the complexity of sexual orientations and gender identities and conclusions one can draw from encounters with LGBT and intersex persons in the world may show that people have a lot to learn from plurality, creativity and dynamics of gender and sexualities.

It is this background, the Human Rights Day Celebration on 10 December 2017 became a land mark in the history of this campus because it was for the first time a leader of third gender activist addressed the student community. Sheethal Shyam's visits and his talk were thought provoking. She strongly appealed to redefine our traditional wisdom over gender equity.
