ANNUAL REPORT 2016-17

NAME OF PROGRAMME OFFICERS:

Dr. DHANYA P.S.

Mr. MUHAMMED SHAFI T.

1. World Environment Day celebrations

The project –one student one tree - was focused with the aim to distribute saplings from the Social Forestry Division, Kerala Forest Department to different institutions. This programme was propagated through NSS unit in our institution. This project was launched as a part of Environment day and about 100 saplings of different varieties were supplied. The NSS volunteer distributed the saplings among teachers, non teaching staffs and students on June 6th 2016. On the same day poster making competition was conducted on the theme ‘plant more trees in the college campus’ in collaboration with natural club of the campus. The winners of the competition were given many exciting prizes. On June 7th 2016 the environment day was also celebrated by planting of saplings in the campus and this event was inaugurated by the Principal and senior most among the teaching and non teaching staff ignited the function. After that Prof: Jahfar odakkal delivered the vote of thanks. The NSS volunteers took over the assignment and the saplings were planted in the campus as well as the areas near to the college premises.

1. NATURAL FARMING-first culture is agriculture

Agriculture is affected by climate change and also contributes to it. As a sector, agriculture must therefore adapt to changes and offer options for mitigation, reducing greenhouse gas emissions and store carbon. Agricultural land use contributes to 12% of global greenhouse gas emissions. This figure is rising. As demand for food increases, farmers are clearing new land resulting in deforestation, tilling of pasture and soil degradation. This activity opens carbon sinks and so releases greenhouse gases. Agriculture must also adapt to changes in climate in order to provide food security. Rising temperatures and decreasing water availability are reducing yields particularly in developing countries where agriculture is vital for the food security of these populations. Extreme weather events such as droughts and floods are making cropping and animal production even more prone to failure. The objective of our project was to explore the mitigation and adaptation potential of natural farming. It examines natural farming's performance on greenhouse gas emissions and carbon sequestration. With respect to adaptation, the study discusses how organic farming systems utilize traditional skills and knowledge, manages with weather extremes, and enhances productivity and resilience.

Natural farming is one thing we do in our special camps as well as in college from the beginning of the academic year June 2016-17. "First culture is agriculture" we started our project first culture is agriculture with natural farming in 2 hectares of land of our college. Seeds were distributed in college for students and teachers. Grow bags were also distributed among the teachers. For the healthy growth of plants, soil should provide a favorable condition. For this soil testing survey was conducted in the campus.

A) Vegetable Cultivation (Horticulture)

Goal:

The vegetable cultivation undertaken by the NSS unit of our college intends to impress upon the students and the local community. The importance of agriculture and self-sufficiency attained thereby. Collective work and the fruits of such labour will be given due credit by the students only if they indulge in such activities. The main goal behind this endeavor is to instill the spirit of hard work in the students. Vegetable cultivation has assumed great importance in the context of the 'food security' which is the talk of the day. The college is blessed with vast areas of land which can be fruitfully utilized for the good of the society. The availability of water and labour has also made it conducive for such an enterprise.

Practice:

More than half acres of land on the campus has been brought under cultivation yielding variety of vegetables highly in demand in the market. High quality seeds and expertise have been made available from the department of agriculture. The labour was offered by a team of 100 NSS volunteers, rightly regarded as 'Green Army' on the campus.

After a few months of hard-work there was a rich harvest. A harvest festival was arranged to celebrate the harvest. An outlet was opened to market the products. The first season of harvest was inaugurated by Dr.Shamsudheen, Assistant Professor EMEA College.

Desilting of Ponds and Canal (Rain water harvesting, Bamboo Lake cleaning)

Water is a fundamental human need. Each person on Earth requires at least 20 to 50 liters of clean, safe water a day for drinking, cooking, and simply keeping themselves clean. Although Kerala is classified as a rain-rich State, there are several pockets of acute water scarcity. Faced with acute water scarcity and the unreliable service of the State water authority. As part of the project named Rain Water Harvesting, -NSS renewed a water source in college campus. a pond in front of campus which was left unused for two decades. The Pond was drained out and the bottom was cleaned by the volunteers.

Blood Donor's Day (14.06.16)

Every year, on 14 June, countries around the world celebrate World Blood Donor Day. The event serves to thank voluntary, unpaid blood donors for their life-saving gifts of blood and to raise awareness of the need for regular blood donations to ensure the quality, safety and availability of blood and blood products for patients in need. The theme of this year's World Blood Donor Day is "Blood connects us all". It focuses on thanking blood donors and highlights the dimension of "sharing" and "connection" between blood donors and patients. The campaign aims to highlight stories of people whose lives have been saved through blood donation, to motivate regular blood donors to continue giving blood, and motivate people in good health who have never given blood to begin doing so, particularly young people.

Our NSS unit organised a Blood Donation awareness class, and poster exhibition in association with Kerala state Aids control society. To create wider public awareness of the need for regular donation because of the short shelf-life of blood components and to encourage existing and potential donors to donate blood at regular intervals.

Celebration of Reading Week- 19-6-16

It is a custom to dwell upon the impoverished reading habits of the youngsters .A few comments, some extra-ordinary tips, pieces of advice, the session concludes, ignorant of the fact that the discussion has not even entered the thoughts of the crowd. Man who has been endowed with free-will, rationale and prudence, described as the most distinguishing features of the human race, fails to grasp the ineffectiveness of his actions done to promote reading. EMEA College, which has in its psyche this indubitably erroneous attitude stood apart from the programmes organised in connection with the Reading Week observation in other colleges with its staunch emphasis on the quality and relevance of the activities conducted. Throughout the week, NSS and Book Club, hosted competitions intended at excavating the reading backgrounds of the students and to instill in them the desire to take a leap into the sea of knowledge via reading. Book Review and Reading Competitions, Literary and General Quiz, were some among the major activities conducted in this regard.

Pusthaka Kood

The NSS units organized a book donation campaign for setting up a library for a school which doesn't possess a library of its own. The programme was conducted under the name 'Pusthaka kood ' in July 2016. The books collected from staff and students of the college were donated to the school library of G.M.LP school, kumminiparambu.

DIGITAL KARULAI –TRAINING ON ONLINE BANKING

Malappuram is an emerging district in all aspects. In the present scenario, it is our motto to change our district into a currency free transaction district. In this perspective, EMEA College NSS unit organized public awareness programme, in co-ordination with Sansad Adarsha Gram Yojana (SAGI) karulai. The project is entitled “ Karulai Total E-market digital campaign VISAKA project “, wherein training workshops are being conducted to familiarize the common public, business men including shopkeepers, transport services and Govt. departments with online/digital money transactions. Overwhelming responses were being received from all sectors for this initiative. Nedumkayam Tribal Village in Malappuram was declared as the first “Cashless Tribal Village” in the Nation.

General Socio-Economic and Health Survey (KARULAI):

Team Nss emea groups were divided into sub groups and the target of the day was to cover 30 houses per group. They are accompanied by the Ward Member Mr.Suneer and kudumshree members. Many shared their personal problems with the volunteers and everyone of the group was given an opportunity to have peep into the life of the natives and quench their curious mind. The groups were very interactive and all were ready to alleviate their burden. The over whelming response on the part of them motivated the volunteers to do something for these people. After the survey coding of the data and its analysis were carried out.

DIGITAL NEDUMKAYAM –TRAINING ON ONLINE BANKING TO TRIBAL PEOPLE

The Seven Day Special Camp of EMEA college NSS Units [2016-17] turned historic in the whole the nation through the declaration of Nedumkayam Adivasi Colony o f Karulayi panjayath as the 1st cashless Digital colony in India .It was one of the major projects undertaken by NSS units as a part of the seven days camp. The NSS volunteers of the college in association with Jan Sikshan Sansthan[JSS]conducted extensive awareness campaign on cashless transactions and provided training in digital transaction using mobile phones

As the first step of the project 50 selected NSS volunteers were given training in cash less digital transaction. They were introduced to mobile applications like SBI BUDDY and also in USSD code transaction in ordinary mobile phone. Mr.V. Ummer koya JSS director led the training programme for volunteers.

The second step of the project started with house campaign of NSS volunteers on 24 December 2016 in Nedumlkayam Adivasi colony. The volunteers introduced the importance and relevance of cash less digital transaction. There were around 90 houses in the colony and out of the total population around 30 people were using smart phones. The volunteers assembled all the smart phone using people of the colony in the community hall and taught them to install SBI Buddy application in their smart phones .Mr. P.V Abdul Wahab M.P arranged the WIFI facility in the community hall for one year. They were also given the practical lessons in digital transactions using their mobile phones. 25 adivasi peoples were trained completely in doing digital cashless transactions.

As the next step of the project volunteers conducted house campaign on 25th and 26th December 2016 introducing digital transaction using USSP Code through ordinary mobile phones . The volunteers visited every houses of the colony and taught them to do digital transaction using *99# mode in their ordinary mobile phones. The NSS unit also made a group of tribal volunteers able to conduct further training for the adivasi people. The mission was completed with the full hearted work of 90 NSS volunteers of the college. The programme officers Prof: Jahfar Odakkal and Prof: K.T Firoz supervised the project.

The Adivasi colony at Nedumkayam has become the first tribal community in the country to go digital. The tribal colony in Karulai Panjayath within the Nilamboor forest was declared cashless on 27th December 2017. District Collector Amith Meena and P.V Abdul Wahab M.P jointly declared the colony digital at a function held at Nedumkayam in the afternoon. The adivasis transferred Rs 5 to the district collectors's bank account using online technology. In return Mr. Amith Meena the district collector sends them Rs 25, bringing cheer in the face of dozens of tribal's. The NSS coordinator, University of Calicut Mr. Valsarajan, Gramma panjaytah president Mr. Assianar, eminent officers including sub collector of the districts, peoples representative, tribal officers, forest department representatives and other dignitaries attended the function.

'How to tackle Exam Fever'

Examinations are almost always stressful. Students rarely know exactly what to expect on the test, and those who suffer from exam fear or exam anxiety can see their grades suffer as a result of this stress. A little anxiety can actually help your performance, but some students become so overwhelmed that they "seize up" and forget what they have studied. Exam anxiety can strike before, during and after a test. Students of final year Degree who are preparing for exams during this March were provided with a psycho-social counseling session under the initiative of NSS. The participants reported that it was really helpful and they received techniques of how to handle pressure. The programme inaugurated by Hussain Melatoor (JCI Trainer).
